Dedication

Whether we wish to admit it or not, we are the future of our ancestors, as our descendants are our future. We owe our descendants our dreams and bequeath to them the legacy of our collective accomplishments – nothing more and nothing less. To our descendants, we charge you with the honoring of your heritage. Your ancestors were hardy folk, god-fearing and plain spoken, and who recognized that nothing was due them except that which they themselves earned. They were not ashamed to profess their belief in God, their country and the American ideal. Of course, there were a few rascallions in our collective history, but neither more nor less than in any other family.

We too easily forget what it took to forge a life in a new world, one rife with peril and with little at hand but a steadfast determination to not only survive but to thrive. Our ancestors bequeathed us with their genes, aspirations and talents. It is therefore fitting that the Blandford Series of Yarbrough Family Records be dedicated to them for making it possible for us to be who we are.

To paraphrase Robert Kincaid¹, “The dreams they had were good ones. They didn’t all come true, but they were worth having, all the same.”

Acknowledgement

The Yarbrough Association is greatly indebted to the vision and efforts of Cathy Y. Walker and William A. (Bill) Yarbrough, the late president and vice-president of the YNGHA, respectively, for beginning the project to digitize the 150+ volumes of records accumulated over the life of the Association. Fulfilment of the project was through the efforts of a number of officers and members, including Bill’s son Mark, Rachel and Don Yarbrough, Hal Yarbrough, Jan and Jim Yarbrough, Ann and Al Bush, Elaine and Lyle Wolf, Joan Y. Singlaub, and Joanne and Bill Augspurger.

It was my privilege to be a part of this dedicated team.

Preface

These records are the legacy of our Yarbrough family researchers, to whom much is owed. The known family researchers include Jean Baker, Ann Y. Broadbent, Mary Y. Daniel, Frances (Rea) Donohue, Betty Humrighouse, Pauline Gray, Evelyn Goble, Nelle Morris Jenkins, Ophelia Kessler, Frances Lockwood, Karen Mazock Renee Smelley, Dorothy Svec, Jeanette Wilson, Cleveland “Cy” Yarborough, Edna Yarbrough, George A. Yarbrough, and Robert Price Yarbrough.

The originals of these volumes are being kept for the benefit of future generations by the Williamson County Library, Franklin, Tennessee.

No claims of accuracy or authentication of the material herein are made or may be assumed. Many of these records have been superseded by subsequent research. Hence, there are records which are erroneous and unreliable; it would have been a Herculean task to attempt to correct all of them. Fortunately, there are only a few critical genealogical facts that are involved, and which are correctly stated here:

- Richard (the Immigrant) Yarborough was never married to Frances Proctor;
- Ambrose Yarbrough did not immigrate from Yorkshire; he is now believed to be a descendant of Richard the Immigrant;
- There are so far only two proven sons of Old Richard – John and Richard II;
- There is so far no evidence proving Joshua Yarborough I to be a descendant of Old Richard.
- The “Old Country” referred to in old documents and letters is the Colony of Virginia, not England or the Old World.
- There were not seven brothers who immigrated from “the old country”; in fact, it now appears there were three brothers and four sons of the brothers. Which were the fathers and which were the sons are so far unknown.

In spite of these inaccuracies, these records comprise much of our history and some of our accomplishments. There are pages whose print quality is so poor that word recognition was not possible. In spite of that, at least partial capability for searching these volumes is provided, as well as an index to each volume. Nonetheless, the viewer is cautioned to perform his/her own due diligence in connection with any use of this material.

The various spellings of the Yarbrough surname have never been applied consistently, even within a given family. To the extent possible, the names in the index reflect the names used on the source pages; where it wasn't clear as to which might be the proper spelling, the spelling used is “Yarbrough”.

The material contained herein is subject to the copyright laws of the United States. Material may be freely used by Yarbrough family researchers so long as proper attribution to the Yarbrough National Genealogical & Historical Association, Inc. is given. This material, in whole or in part, may not be used for any other purposes without the express written permission of the Yarbrough National Genealogical & Historical Association.

We welcome the submission of any Yarbrough family information that can be added to our growing data base. Aquilla Yarberry, continued

- 9 May 1865, Quillae Mills was indicted, along with Jane Parton, Nivy Dye, Sarah Jones, James Mills alias James Roberts, and Rufus Mills for assault and robbery of Matilda S. Gardner on May 4, 1865, and the stealing of one black horse, value $100, property of J.M.N. Gardiner. Trial by jury Sept. 13, 1865. Rufus Mills acquitted. Aquilla Mills and Jmes Mills, alias Roberts, guilty. Sentence: pay $5 and costs.
- 3 Dec 1867, Equilla Jones affidavit that the $8.00 pension for James was paid to 4 Mar 1861, pension certificate lost during war, asking pay to 22 June 1863 (his age 16). Sworn by J. Minis and John Pressley.
- 9 July 1869, Pension approved, $16.00/month from Dec. 8, 1864, for minor children of R. Mills.

- 1 May 1872, Horse claim #15165 filed by Aquilla Mills Presley for the loss of 3 horses to the Union Army. Claim denied.
- Sept 1875, investigation of the Mills pension by Special Agent G. H. Ragsdale, resulting in loss of pension because of supposed fraud. Application had been executed by Thomas G. Boyd, who was sentenced in Jan 1873 to 5 years in the penitentiary and fined $12,000 for defrauding the government in phony and fake pension cases. J. H. Kelso, whose name Boyd used as attorney, had been convicted with Boyd. Burgess Witt, J.P., whose signature was on the papers, said it was a forgery. Clem Davis and Michael Reed refuted affidavits regarding R. Mills' service, saying they had been forged. Aquilla was receiving pension in Arkansas, but her P.O. address was Mills Springs, Warren County, Missouri, which is about 40 miles west of St. Louis.
- 5 Sept 1877, Chancery Court Case #665, Aquilla Presley vs Christina Phillips (her daughter). The suit was brought against Aquilla by her children by R. Mills because of Aquilla's having put the land purchased with their pension money in the names of John Pressley's children.
- 3 March 1879, Wm. R. Yearberry, Abe Bivens and Roland Mills, $500 bond for Wm. R. Yearberry, appointed administrator of Richard Mills deed.
- 21 May 1879, Aquilla sold 40 acres of land to Rufus S. Mills for $100, witness J. B. Roberts.

AQUILLA YARBERRY

Born: 31 Mar 1826, South Carolina

Daughter of William R. Yarberry and Elizabeth Nicholson

Married:

(1) John R. Roberts, Monroe County, Tennessee, 13 Jan 1845, Austin Glen, Minister

Son: James Berry Roberts, born 22 June 1847, Monroe County, Tennessee

John R. died 15 Aug. 1847, U.S. Army, Perote, Mexico.

(2) Richardson Mills, Monroe County, Tennessee 12 Oct. 1848.

Children:

Rufus S., b. 1851

Malissia Jane, b. 4 Nov 1852, married Giles

Mary Christina, b. 1854, married Phillips

W. Rowland, b. 15 Jan 1857, m. Jane Goforth, 11-29-1879

Martha A., b. 4 Sept. 1859

Thomas A. b. 12 Jan 1862 (Tombstone, 1863, d. 8 Dec 1899, initial R)

Richard was killed 7 Dec 1864, U.S. Army, by Confederate Capt. W. R.

Abbott's Scouts while on way to rob a tan yard near Little Toccoa. He is buried there.

(3) Robert Jones, Monroe County, Tennessee, 14 May 1866, divorced May 1868.

(4) John Presley, Monroe County, Tennessee, 27 June 1868.

John persuaded Aquilla to have deed to land which she had purchased with pension money of the 6 minor children of Richard Mills, made in the names of Presley's children, namely Thomas, John and Jehu Presley. As soon as the deed was made, he became cruel so that she left home and went west in 1873. She returned in 1876 to discover that John had gotten a divorce and had re-married. He said she was "a drunkard and strumer" (from Chancery Court Case #665, filed 5 Sept 1877, Aquilla Pressley vs Christina Phillips.) John Presley had married Sarah Yarberry 1 April 1843.

Died: 13 Aug 1886 Monroe County, buried Davis Cemetery, Loudon Co.

1 Oct 1848, Equilla Roberts appointed guardian of James Roberts.

5 Sept 1858, $500 bond as guardian for James, by Equilla, Benjamine Kirkland and Wm. R. Yarberry.

6 Sept 1858, Equilla made affidavit regarding extension of pension for James and herself. Witnesses: Richardson Mills and John Presley.

JANE YARBERRY

Born: ca 1836, Tennessee daughter of

Married:

- (1) Henry Partain, 10 or 11 June 1852, Gilmer County, Georgia, by Reese McClure, J.P.

Children:

- Catherine, b. 27 May 1855 or 56)
Henry Clay, b. 24 May 1858) Mrs. Polly Pressley, midwife Nancy Jane, b. 7 Oct 1861)
(2) Jackson Noland, 26 Aug 1865, Monroe Co., TN (Julian Brannon, M.G.)
(3) John R. Edmunds, 17 March 1866, Monroe County, Tennessee (John Minnis, J.P.)

Jane Yarberry was a relative, sister perhaps, of Aquilla Yarberry, who was a daughter of William R. Yarberry and Elizabeth Nicholson. This family was living in Gilmer County, Georgia in 1850, two years before Jane's marriage there, but Jane is not listed in their household.

In 1860 Jane and Henry were living on Ballplay, Monroe County, next door to Phillip and Nancy Roberts. The grandson of Henry and Jane, Edward Eugene Partain, married Bertie Elizabeth Mills, who was the great-great-granddaughter of Phillip and Nancy Roberts, through their son John R. Roberts and his wife, Aquilla Yarberry.

While in the Confederate Army in 1861, Henry became ill, and Jane went to Loudon, Tennessee, hauled him home and nursed him back to health.

On May 9, 1865, Jane and Aquilla Yarberry Roberts, along with several others, were involved in a court trial resulting from an assault on Matilda S. Gardner. They were indicted, accused of stealing a black horse belonging to J.M.N. Gardner, May 4, 1865. Jane was not found guilty.

December 4, 1865, Jane Parton Noland filed for legal guardianship of Catherine and Henry, the $800 bond being signed by James Bivens and Elias Kerby.

I am trying to find out more about the Augustus Davis, age 63, listed in the home of William Yarbrough, 46, 1850 Census, Hardeman Co, Tn. Other members of this house were Hannah, 36; James, 13; Mary, 10; William, 6; Rebecca 1; Nero Davis, 15; Catherine Davis, 13. Does anyone claim this William as their own? Can anyone tell me more about the Augustus Davis who lv with William and Hannah Y? My TN ancestors were Rebecca Davis (1812-1901) and her brother Jonathan C. Davis (1817-1876); Thomas Prince (1811-1846); his bro Jonathan E. Prince (1813-1888) and their sister Eleanor Prince (1818-1881). All thought to have been b in TN. Rebecca Davis m Thomas Prince and Jonathan C. Davis m Eleanor Prince. Thomas Prince and family appear in the 1840 census for White Co, but moved to MO before July 1842. Records indicate that Eleanor Prince b in MO although other sources indicate she and J. C. Davis were m in White Co on 8 Dec 1836. 1860 census indicates 1st child, Thomas A Davis, was b in Mo in 1840. Jonathan E. Prince m Virtua Irvin, d/o Willima Irvin of White Co and moved to Tx. We believe Augustus Davis of White Co was the father of Jonathan C. and Rebecca and that this Augustus was the son of Jonathan "Schoolmaster" and Hannah Davis, who was the son of Conrad Davis. Can anyone prove or disprove this link?

ARKANSAS TERRITORY
1821

Western boundaries uncertain
 Present western boundary of Arkansas
 When the 1820 census was taken, Crawford County was part of Pulaski County, and Independence County was part of Lawrence County.

The TERRITORY OF ARKANSAS was created by Congress in 1819 from the southern part of the Territory of Missouri. The five original counties in ARKANSAS TERRITORY were: Lawrence, Arkansas, Pulaski, Clark and Hempstead. Pulaski, Clark and Hempstead Counties had been created in a division of Arkansas County in 1818.

THE REPUBLIC OF TEXAS 1837-1846

CREATION OF HOUSTON COUNTY

By 1837, leaders of this area, a part of Nacogdoches, felt strong and secure enough to petition the First Congress assembled to make them a county. Their petition was written from Mustang Prairie and dated April 22, 1837. (6) It reads: "To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives when in Congress Assembled:

"We, the undersigned, your petitioners, citizens of said republic do most respectfully pray that your honorable body make for us a county on the East side of Trinity River, beginning at Robbins Ferry on said Trinity; Thence running fifteen miles each side of the old San Antonio Road and East far enough to make a constitutional county, and we do further pray that your Honorable Body appoint three disinterested commissioners out of the bounds of said county to locate the seat of justice for said county in granting the aforesaid petition, we, your petitioners as duty bound will ever pray, etc."

at Greenville, Texas on 21 April 1966.

Mr. Owens is the cousin of Mrs. J.J. Carpenter (nee Loya Yarbrough) and Miss Audrey Yarbrough, daughters of Scott M. Yarbrough.

He has an old Yarbrough family Bible (presumably the Joseph Randolph Yarbrough Bible), but he wasn't able to find any data in it other than an old paper which reads identically with the Lou Kemp paper on Joseph Randolph Yarbrough.

Mable Stingley Yarberry

Widow of Jesse Elmore Yarberry, son of Bill and Julie Sexton Yarberry. Aunt Mable lived Hope Ark. when Jesse died. She had been raised at Washington, Ark. and sold her home at Hope to buy a place at Washington. Every trip to Ark. when my children were small would have in the schedule a visit to each Aunt and Uncle's house. At Aunt Mable's we would eat good food and enjoy stories of the family. When I finished raising my children I thought I would follow up on these stories when I launched me into a most interesting hobby, that of family research. Her stories were: Granpa Henry Sexton had a red beard, when he arrived near Hope water was sold for 25¢ a barrel. He drove the mail between Washington Magnolia and Camden. Driving a wagon and 2 bay ponies.

The Yarberrys came from England, debtors prison, with Oglethorpe to Georgia. The Sextons came from Ireland in the potato famine.

Being raised at Washington, Ark. the then county seat of Hempstead Co. she heard stories around the pot bellied stove in the country store. She heard Joseph Yarberry and old man Taylor tell of the Civil War that they both had been in. Their Grandchildren later married and Aunt Mable married one of Joseph Yarberry's grandchildren.

I wish I had a tape of her talking but we did not know about tape recorders 20 years ago. We still visit Aunt Mable but she doesn't talk as she used to. Her father read the marriage ceremony for Mattie and Henry Yarberry as Bro. Stingley was the preacher at Union Grove Church. He made his rounds to different churches for many years.

I have not proved Aunt Mable's stories true, if any thing just the opposite but as one daughter said, "She sure got you interested". Aunt Mable's sister married a Harrison, in a wheel chair, his brother was Senator Harrison from Ark. and Aunt Mable's bro-in-law was sec. for his bro. the senator. I believe her stories were told while visiting her sister in Washington, D.C. and made for that purpose.

THE DAY THEY HANG MARSHAL YARBERY

Captain John Borradale was in command of the Albuquerque Guards and saw that law and order prevailed during the hanging of Yarbery.

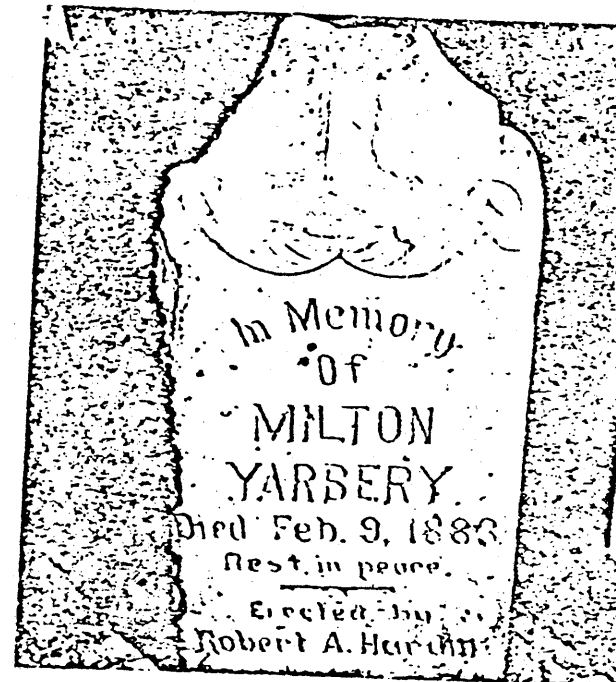

The mob crowded the depot platform and overflowed into the streets. Some waved revolvers, some waved nooses, and others waved bottles. Some just stood and stared. "He's on his way!" a man shouted as he ran from the telegraph office.

"If the sheriff doesn't do the job, we will!" muttered a leatherfaced prospector.

Milt Yarbery, ex-marshal of Albuquerque, was headed for a hanging. They had loaded him on the special train at 6:30 that morning with sixteen of the Governor's Rifles and sheriffs Martinez of Santa Fe and Bowman of Colfax County.

Yarbery glared at his guards and growled like a cornered wolf. He had no fear of death, but he had always reacted to any menace to his status with a snarling attack. Still, he had a fierce dog's pride and craving for friendship.

He looked something like the popular idea of a frontier marshal: tall, lean, tough, somewhat handsome, brown mustached, sharp gray eyes. He was born of traditional "poor but honest" parents in Arkansas, but ran off to Texas as a young man. A land feud, a shooting, and the sheriff were the reasons.

Uneducated, he couldn't read more than the back of a deck of cards, but he did have some ingenuity. He usually managed to offset this animal cunning by doing the right thing at exactly the wrong time. He had been many things in his life — cowboy, gambler, brothel-keeper, bandit — as a failure at all of them. There was one exception — he was a fairly successful murderer.

He opened a bar and brothel in Las Vegas, N.M. At that time all his customers were following the railroad to Albuquerque. He made up his losses by killing and robbing a freighter before he left town.

He made the mistake of trying banditry in the bailiwick of "Hanging Judge" Isaac Parker in Arkansas. At the end of his Arkansas stay, he shot a man in the back in Texas, then got drunk and boasted about it. He was lucky and the citizens were lenient. They just ran him out of town.

It's amazing he hadn't been hanged long before.

The Albuquerque Guards shown above escorted Milt Yarbery to the jail and to a new-fangled "jerk to Jesus" scaffold. John H. Borradaile rides the horse slightly in front of the troop.

While the mob screamed in Albuquerque, Yarbery sawed a mournful tune off a borrowed fiddle and sang in his cracked voice:

"It matters little now, Lorena.

The past is in eternal past.

Our heads will soon lie low, Lorena,

Life's tide is ebbing out so fast."

The guard shuddered, more at the quality of the music than the choice of songs.

Engine 245 gasped into Lamy Junction and laid panting on the tracks while the Atlantic Express roared past, spitting cinders from the funnel.

"Got a drink?" Yarbery asked Sheriff Bowman. The sheriff was a convivial sort. He hauled out a bottle and handed it to the prisoner, then passed it around. It was empty before it got halfway through the coach.

Everyone but the prisoner was relaxed. No worry with the sheriff around. He was the only man in the territory who could outdraw and outshoot that happy killer, Clay Allison.

In the single special coach, Yarbery nervously wiped his mouth and plucked at the sleeve of his seedy brown coat, the same one he had worn to prison twenty months before. His new white shirt had no collar, but it was the only sign of respectability about him. He sighed as the train jerked forward again.

He'd never been very respectable. In Canon City, Colorado, he had owned a good saloon until a customer took a dislike to the quality of the whiskey and shot him. The joint was so far in debt when he'd recovered there was nothing left to do but tap the till and get out of town.

He'd killed men, at least four of them, before he got the badge. He arrived in the bustling, oat-feeling Albuquerque in 1850, just when they needed a city marshal. Yarbery shrugged and took the job.

He was never a popular lawman. Crude and slovenly, he could never be mistaken for a gentleman. These traits, plus immoral tendencies, made him the wrong kind of friends. Unfortunately for him, he was a sucker for his friends. They would rather suggest, "Let's go rob a stage-coach," than "Let's go to church."

On the other side of the badge for once, he began to long for the more stable life of honest, affluent people.

He met a widow named Sadie Preston and fell in love. At least, it was a close resemblance. Again misfortune dogged him. Yarbery was only 35, but he lost out to the youth and good looks of Harry Brown. Harry was his natural enemy. First, he was gently reared, the son and nephew of two ex-governors of Colorado. Also, he was really tough. As a guard for the Adams Express Company, he had held off Dave Rudabaugh's gang with his rifle when they tried to rob the train at Kinsley, Kansas. Rudabaugh escaped to partner with Milt in the holdup business and, later, to ride with a buck-toothed killer named Billy the Kid.

Toward the end of the affair with Sadie, Yarbery began to look upon Brown as a rival dog that wanted his favorite bone. Sadie Preston and Brown were eating supper in a restaurant one night in March, 1881. When they finished, Brown stepped outside to fire up a cigar, since no gentleman smoked in the presence of a lady, especially at the table. Milt passed with a surely glare, then stopped as Brown pointed his cigar.

"Milt," he said to Yarbery, "I want a talk with you."

Yarbery jerked his head to one side and they moved away from the door.

"Stay away from Sadie. She doesn't want anything to do with riffraff like you."

"Who's riffraff?" snarled Yarbery, his eyes gleaming dangerously in the darkness. "Don't tell me anything you'll be sorry for."

Brown stared contemptuously at him and spoke his final, fatal words.

"I wouldn't be afraid of you if you were marshal of the United States!"

Yarbery reacted, sending a quick bullet into Brown's chest. After he dropped, the marshal stepped forward to put three more shots into the body.

Yarbery surrendered to Sheriff Perfecto Amijo. The sheriff brought him before the mayor for a preliminary hearing the next day and Yarbery claimed self defense. Brown had tried to draw a pistol, he said. No gun was ever found on or near the body, but Yarbery won acquittal by buying witnesses who testified Brown had made some threats toward Marshal Yarbery.

After this the citizens were careful to stay away from his girls. They also made no quick motions with their hands while he was around.

In June, he made his next mistake. He and "Monte Frank" Boyd were playing stud in the Maden Hotel one

"Let's see what's going on," Yarbery grinned, pushing back his chair. They walked outside and looked around. Boyd stepped over to an old man sitting on the warped wood sidewalk, a sombrero over his eyes.

"Who fired that shot?" he asked.

The old man looked up, seeing only a curious gringo. He didn't know who had shot, but this gringo obviously wanted an answer, any answer.

"That man," he mumbled, waving his hand at the street.

Boyd drew his gun and they stared at the back of Charles Campbell, an unarmed railroad carpenter who had the bad luck to be crossing the street at the time.

Yarbery shouted, "Hold up your hands!"

Campbell looked back and saw only two tough-looking hardcases who might have been robbers.

"Go to hell!" he shouted back, continuing across the street.

It was the wrong answer for the marshal. He drew and fired while Boyd was still cocking his gun, but they both put a bullet into the carpenter's back at about the same time.

"I've downed the son-of-a-bitch!" Yarbery shouted as he and the gambler emptied their pistols at Campbell.

Yarbery goofed again. He surrendered and claimed self-defense again, but this time there was talk of a necktie party.

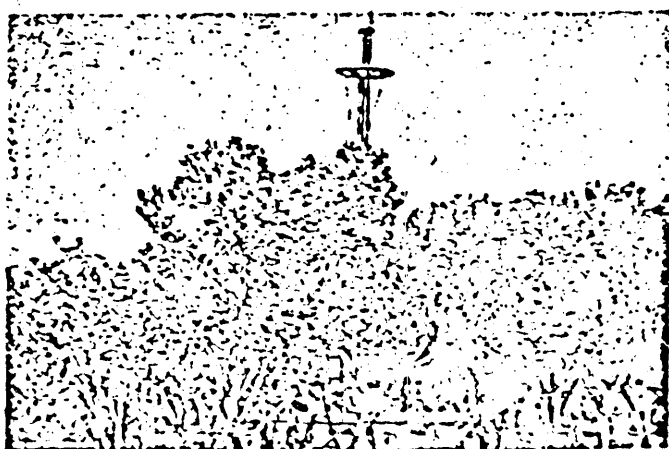

While he was in jail, hundreds of men attended protest meetings. When someone waved a rope, Sheriff Armijo would show up to talk them out of it. The sheriff was a respected man. Soft speaking and sandy haired, he didn't carry a gun. His silver tongue was backed by two hamlike fists. Many a roistering cowboy who had expected to hurrah this "dumb greaser" had awakened in jail the next morning with a swollen jaw.

Boyd was smart enough to realize his mistake and headed west in a fast gallop. Near Grants he came upon two unarmed Navajos, one with a good horse. He shot that one, but the other got away and raised forty tribesmen. When the war party caught up, they all fired at once and left the bullet-shredded body to rot on the desert.

Yarbery was shipped to the Santa Fe jail, duly tried, and sentenced to hang. He whiled away the time by playing incompetently, naturally, on the fiddle. This annoyed the other prisoners.

In September, 1882, he and three others were waiting when a guard unlocked their common cell. They knocked him out and leaped into the hall and out through a window. Other guards took a few pot shots in the dark, all near whistles. Yarbery was gone for three days while armed parties scouted the countryside.

of force just a few miles out of Santa Fe. The best it could do was file off his shackles.

Two thousand people packed the platform in front of the adobe and clapboard depot as the train pulled in. Milt stared glumly out the window at the mass of hostile faces. The Albuquerque company of the state militia could be seen pushing their way through the crowd. Their tall Prussian helmets with waving yellow horse hair plumes gleamed like lighthouses. The blue uniform sparkled with brass buttons and Capt. Borradaile, his sabre raised in the sunlight, led the way.

The militia, stopping with a sharp snap that flapped their epaulettes, formed a hollow square around the coach door. Col. Max Frost and his Santa Fe companion descended and finally the prisoner, blinking in the sun, stuck his head out to be greeted by catcalls, rebel yells and dirty names. Col. Frost was decked out for the occasion, with an extra Smith and Wesson on one hip and a Bowie knife in the top of his boot. He saluted his guard over to Lt. Col. Perfecto Armijo, who could be sheriff, judge, Hidalgo or auctioneer as the occasion demanded.

The guards formed a box, open at the end, and escorted Yarbery through the crowd. His lank figure, shambling in leg chains, towered head and shoulders above his guards.

Halfway across Railroad Avenue he stopped and looked around, dumbly surprised at the crowd's hoots. His escort had led him directly over the spot where he'd killed Campbell.

Two horse-drawn trolleys were waiting for the party. The guest of honor was politely waved into the rear car followed by his guards. A hundred people tried to jam into the front car. Curses and thuds were buried in the mob's rumble. One man was pushed out a filigreed window as the cars clattered away and he ran after, shouting drunk only.

The crowd flowed down Railroad Avenue after the jerking clanking cars. The prisoner took a slug of whisky, but was otherwise unaffected by the holiday mood. He stared morosely at the screaming faces, the shaking fists.

He remembered the last time he'd tried to escape. Only two days before he had gouged out the wood around a rivet on his cell door with a knife. He filled the hole with soap, smoothing it with a dirty thumb to match the color of the old door. The next night one solid push would have knocked off the bar and opened the way to freedom.

His luck continued as usual and Sheriff Martinez noticed his handiwork about noon. Yarbery could only shrug. "Wouldn't you have done the same?"

Martinez grinned. "We're saving you for the rope."

The cars bumped to a stop in Old Albuquerque, the original section founded in 1706, and Yarbery got his first look at the gallows.

It was at ground level, with no steps or ominous pointing arm. A new model, it was copied from a recent issue of SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. Instead of the usual trap door, a lever system was used. A long beam was hinged in its center to a crossbeam sitting on heavy posts. At one end of the balancing beam was a noose, and a 325 pound lead weight dangled from a rope at the other. The weight rested inside a rough lumber box, about the size and shape of a large outhouse. Three men would be inside, ready to drop the lead at a signal from the sheriff.

A simple lever arrangement: down goes the weight, up goes the prisoner, snap goes the neck, "Hurrah!" goes the crowd.

There had been some argument about where to hold the hanging. Sheriff Armijo wanted the ceremonies to have some decorum. He planned to use the new exposition building at the State Fair grounds until thirty-two prominent stockholders signed a protest petition.

The street railway company offered the use of their corrals, but this was rejected as not quite proper enough. Besides, the crowd's view wouldn't be so good.

The sheriff decided on a new course. He erected the scaffold near the main plaza in Old Albuquerque, in front of the jail. But, as a final touch, he built an eight-foot picket fence around the yard, then issued a hundred engraved tickets to those privileged to watch on the inside.

"This entitles Mr. . . . to witness the execution of Milton J. Yarbery, February 9th, 1883.

By order of Lt. Col. Perfecto Armijo

Capt. Jno. Borradaile, A. A."

Those who could wrangle an extra ticket or didn't want to attend could sell their ducats for any price they asked.

The low adobe roofs around the jail were packed with people, some of whom had paid a dollar a head for standing room. Others sat on cottonwood limbs. Many had brought their lunches and bottles, although small boys peddled buckets of tamales, wrapped in cornhusks.

A trapped Yarbery squatted on a stool in the jail, glaring at his guards. Armijo stuck his head in the door.

"Got a visitor, Milt."

"Another damned reporter?" he spat. "I'll kill the bastard if I get my hands on him!"

"It's Elwood Malden."

Yarbery's head jerked up. "Wouldn't josh me, would you, sheriff? I'd sure like to see a friend."

Malden brought Milt some new clothes. He could now go to glory wearing a fine suit of broadcloth. Black, naturally.

He complained that his shirt was too tight, making the prophetic gesture of running his fingure around his neck to loosen the collar.

Yarbery decided to tell Malden some secrets. Malden told none of these secrets, except that the prisoner's name was really not Yarbery, and that he asked that letters be written to his relatives in Arkansas.

Between visitors, Yarbery had lunch: a piece of cranberry pie, a bottle of ale, and a pint of whiskey.

His only possessions were the clothes he wore, and he gave them to some of the few friends he had left. Malden got the old brown coat, Frank Fagely the vest, and Matt Bradley the pants.

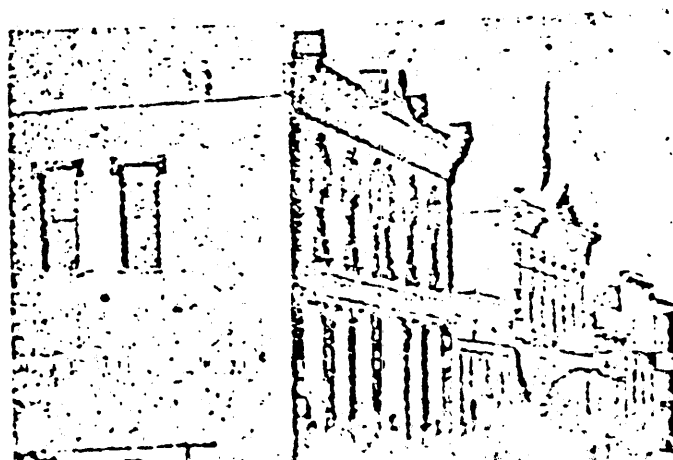

Stripped of possessions and honor, the only thing left for him was death with courage and dignity. Considering his past career, no one expected that.

The first indication came with one of the last visitors. Yarbery looked down to see a revolver butt held at the tips of his fingers as the friend crouched beside him.

"This is your last chance, marshal," he whispered.

Yarbery thought a moment and slowly shook his head.

Main Street of Albuquerque in the 1880's. Here they hanged Marshal Yarbery with all the trimmings of a great festival.

Cobb Collection, Univ. of New Mexico

"It's too late for that," he muttered.

Sheriff Bowman had noticed and quietly slid his revolver out to cover the two, but it wasn't necessary.

Yarbery's head nodded in thought, almost as if he were asleep, while he listened to the mob's angry rumble.

At twenty minutes to three, Sheriff Armijo's barked shout brought the militia out of jail on the run. They pushed back the crowd and formed a corridor leading to the scaffold. Armijo threw open the jail door and the party stepped outside.

Yarbery squinted into their angry, harsh-shadowed faces.

"By God, Perfecto," he exclaimed, "this is almost as many people as you kept from lynching me!"

The sheriff nudged the condemned man toward the rope. Yarbery took a few steps and stopped at the edge of the plank floor. He turned to Armijo.

"What kind of a thing is this? There's no steps?"

Armijo nudged him again. "Don't worry, it'll work. Just step under the rope."

The sheriff pulled out his gold-plated pocket watch and snapped open the case. He studied it carefully.

"Milt, it's getting hot here in the sun. We'll give you ten minutes, if you have anything to say."

The prisoner was ready. While the noose tapped him gently, remindingly, on the ear, he opened his mouth, paused for effect, and started a prepared speech.

"Friends, you are about to hang Milt Yarbery. You are not going to hang him for the murder of Campbell, but for the murder of Brown.

"There is Colonel Bell, (he tilted his head at the embarrassed colonel, the judge at his trial). Come around here, Bell, don't hide your face! What did he say to the sheriff when he asked him what should be done with the man who killed Campbell? Judge Bell said, 'He killed Governor Brown's son, and the son-of-a-bitch ought to hang!'"

He talked until Armijo, checking his watch, stage whispered, "Time's almost up, Milt."

"Let me finish, Perfecto," said Yarbery, continuing his harangue. He was past explanations and getting to personal accusations at a half minute to three. There were several red faces in the crowd besides Bell's.

Armijo made a motion with his hand, and two deputies stepped forward to put the black hood over the prisoner's head.

The voice continued, muffled under the hood. There was a pause.

"How much time, Perfecto?"

"All the time you want!" answered the sheriff, snapping the watch case shut.

Yarbery understood. An eye peering through a knothole in the pine box also knew the signal.

Yarbery roared, "You're hanging an innocent man, you sons of—"

Snap!

The ex-marshal sprang into the air, his head hitting the crossbeam with a solid smack. The body dangled and danced on the rope as three doctors moved forward to pronounce him dead.

They were unnecessary, except for the formalities. Every one in the audience had heard the quick, dull crack of his neck, like a rotten hitchpost breaking.

A rough pine coffin had been courteously hidden from Yarbery's view, but now it was dragged forward and the body dumped into it. They left the knot and rope on whe they buried him.

A happy mob escorted him to his grave while the rest of the town's population dissolved into the cantinas to celebrate.

FEB 15 1955

Riding high in Albuquerque in 1831 was Harry Brown, 34-year-old son of former Gov. Neil S. Brown of Tennessee, who was riding trains as a messenger for the Adams Express Co.

Brown was considered a "privileged character" by the express company because of his daring in helping to thwart an attempted robbery of his car at Kinsley, Kan., in January, 1873. Among the would-be train robbers on this occasion was the notorious Dave Rudabaugh.

Although a perfect gentleman when sober, Brown grew reckless and quarrelsome when he started drinking, and was continually drawing his six-shooter on somebody or another. The early newspapers said that he made "numerous bad gun plays in Albuquerque" but that his friends always managed to keep him out of trouble.

While Brown was living in Albuquerque, he and Constable Milton J. Yarberry became rivals for the affections of a young divorcee, Sadie Preston.

On Sunday evening, March 27, 1831, Brown and Mrs. Preston drew up in front of Girard's Restaurant, on the northeast corner of Second and Central, in a hired hack. Mrs. Preston went into the restaurant and began to eat. Yarberry arrived at the restaurant, leading Mrs. Preston's four-year-old daughter. He took the child into the restaurant, ordered some food for her, and then walked out on the sidewalk, where Brown was standing.

"Milt, I want to talk to you," Brown called to the constable.

The two men began arguing, and a bystander heard Brown say to Yarberry: "I want you to understand that I'm not afraid of you, and would not be even if you were marshal of the United States."

Yarberry drew his revolver and fired twice, hitting Brown both times, and then put two more bullets into him as he lay on the sidewalk.

Indicted for murder, Yarberry was acquitted after testifying that Brown was going for his gun, and had sworn to kill him on sight.

CONSTABLE YARBERRY and a gambler friend, Frank Boyd, were at the Maden House at the southwest corner of First and Central on the night of June 18, 1831, when a shot was fired in the R.H. Greenleaf Restaurant on S. First St.

Yarberry and Boyd were hurrying toward the restaurant when a man pointed to a figure walking east across First St. and said "There goes the man." Yarberry ordered the man who was crossing the street to "Throw up your hands," then started shooting.

The victim, Charles D. Campbell, 32-year-old Atlantic and Pacific Railroad carpenter, died with three bullets in him — two of them in his back. No gun was found on or near his body, and it was never determined who had fired the shot in the restaurant.

Yarberry surrendered himself to Sheriff Perfecto Armijo, claiming that Campbell had shot at him when he ordered him to throw up his hands. In Campbell's funeral procession, railroad workers carried banners expressing their feelings about Albuquerque's constable.

Frank Boyd, who was believed to have done some of the shooting, hurried west out of town. Months later, he shot down an unarmed Navajo Indian near Holbrook, Ariz. At sundown the same day, 40 mounted Navajos caught up with him, and at a signal from their leader, all raised rifles and shot. Exit Frank Boyd.

There were four legal hangings in Bernalillo County during the period 1883 to 1913.

The 1883 execution apparently was the first hanging in Bernalillo County carried out through due process of law. The 1913 hanging was the last one in the history of the county.

All four hangings occurred in Old Albuquerque, although each was held in a different location of the community. Each of the victims, with one exception, protested that he was innocent to his dying moment.

MILTON J. YARBERRY, an Albuquerque constable and deputy sheriff, was the first hanging victim.

Yarberry, a native of Arkansas who had served as a cowboy and saloon keeper before coming to Albuquerque in 1881, shot down two local citizens during a 12-week period in 1881, each of them apparently unarmed at the time.

Yarberry's first victim was Harry Brown, whom he shot and killed during an argument on N. First St. on March 27, 1881. It was believed they were arguing over a woman. Yarberry claimed at a preliminary hearing that he shot in self defense, and he was acquitted.

On June 18, 1881, Yarberry shot down a 32-year-old railroad carpenter, Charles D. Campbell, on S. First St., moments after Campbell fired a bullet into the ceiling of a saloon and ran into the street.

The constable again claimed he shot in self defense, but nobody could find a gun on his victim. Yarberry was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to be hanged.

The execution took place on Feb. 9, 1883, in the yard of the Bernalillo County jail, then located a short distance east of the Old Town Plaza. About 150 persons witnessed the hanging.

Yarberry, who was about 25, talked continually for 15 minutes before the trap was sprung contending he shot both men in self defense and that a minister would have done no less than he had done. He was buried in a Martinez town cemetery with the noose still DIONICIO SANDOVAL was the next man to be hanged legally in Bernalillo County.

Sandoval and Victoriano Tenorio were employed as shepherders for J. M. Sandoval at San Ysidro, each of them in charge of a different flock of sheep.

Sandoval, on July 29, 1895, appeared at Tenorio's sheep camp carrying a rifle. The two men began arguing, each accusing the other of stealing lambs from his flock. A rifle shot ended the argument.

Sandoval testified at his trial that the rifle was discharged accidentally while he and Tenorio were struggling. The jury didn't believe him.

Sandoval was hanged Sept. 24, 1896, on a gallows which had been erected just beyond the southwest edge of the Territorial Fairgrounds in Old Town. There were from 1200 to 1500 witnesses.

Sandoval remained calm and collected to the end, though insisting that the shooting was an accident. Given a new suit of clothes on the morning of his execution, he admired the new outfit and said, "I'm going out of here mighty high-toned."

The 37-year-old shepherd was buried in the San Ignacio Cemetery. His only survivor was a wife in Trinidad, who did not attend the execution.

JOSE P. RUIZ was the third man to be hanged in this county.

On May 7, 1893, Ruiz and a companion spent the day getting liquored up at local saloons.

Riding home on horseback later that afternoon in intoxicated conditions, the two men passed the home of Felipe O'Bannon on Barcelas Rd., where four children were playing in the front yard.

Ruiz pulled his revolver and fired several shots into the group of children. One of the shots killed 5-year-old Patricio O'Bannon, and another grazed the neck of 7-year-old Desiderio Aragon.

Captured later and convicted of first degree murder, Ruiz was hanged June 1, 1900, in a vacant, one-story building near the County Jail. The jail at that time was located at what is now the southwest corner of Central and Rio Grande Blvd. Calm to the end, Ruiz gave the following speech on the gallows:

"Gentlemen — beware of drink; it has brought me to this scaffold. Fathers of families — train your children to respect everyone, and for the love of God keep them away from liquor, for this is the cause of ruin."

"Now friends, in these my last moments, I ask you for the love of God to pray for my soul."

DEMECIO DELGADILLO, a 23-year-old Mexican National from Chihuahua, was the last man to be hanged in Bernalillo County.

Delgadillo came to Albuquerque in 1912 and got a job at a local lumber mill.

On the morning of Sept. 23, 1912, Mrs. Soledad Larraneta de Pino was found shot to death in her home on Mountain Rd. near Fourteenth St. Police were told that Delgadillo had been seen with Mrs. Pino the night before.

Delgadillo, 23, was arrested at Los Lunas the following day. He had a .33 caliber revolver in his possession, with one cartridge fired. The bullet that killed Mrs. Pino was a .33.

Convicted of first degree murder, Delgadillo was hanged May 17, 1913, in the yard of the County Jail where a crowd of about 50 men gathered.

His last words were: "I am not guilty. I did not kill that woman."

A large crowd of Albuquerque citizens gathered at the adobe jailhouse east of the Old Town Plaza 83 years ago tomorrow to witness the execution of Milton J. Yarberry, constable of Precinct 12.

About 160 of the citizens had received special invitations or "tickets," admitting them to the jail yard, surrounded by a high board fence, where the gallows had been erected.

These invitations read: "This entitles Mr. . . . to witness the execution of Milton J. Yarberry, February 9th, 1883. By order of Lt. Col. Perfecto Armijo. Capt. Jno. Borrodalle, A.A."

The remainder, about 1,000 persons, watched from nearby vantage points in trees and on the flat roofs of homes — some home owners charging $1 a head for the rooftop views.

The Albuquerque policeman was being executed for the crime of murder.

During his brief career as constable of New Albuquerque in 1881 he had shot down two men in the streets. The officer claimed that both killings were justifiable, and in self defense. The jury believed him the first time, but not the second.

Yarberry and his lawyers had used every means to set aside the conviction or prevent the execution. An appeal to the Territorial Supreme Court had been denied, executive pardon was not forthcoming, and even a brief prison break had been in vain.

Now, at 3 p.m. on Feb. 9, 1883, the time had run out.

MILTON YARBERRY, who had been kept in jail in Santa Fe while his appeal was pending, was brought to Albuquerque on a special one-coach train on the morning of his execution.

About 200 persons gathered at the Santa Fe Railway depot here that morning to see the arrival of the train. Waiting to take custody of the prisoner were the uniformed, helmeted members of the Albuquerque Guards, led by

Too Quick on the Draw

Our First Constable Died On Gallows 75 Years Ago

By HOWARD BRYAN

Milton J. Yarberry, Albuquerque's first town constable, was hanged in Old Town just 75 years ago tomorrow for having a too itchy trigger finger.

Yarberry, a native of Arkansas, drifted into Albuquerque early in 1881 with the reputation of a cowboy, gambler, saloon keeper and desperado.

Because he was handy with a gun Yarberry was appointed town constable and given the job of preserving law and order in the boisterous young village.

Rivals in Romance

Allegedly in pursuit of his official duties, Yarberry shot and killed 24-year-old Harry Brown in Charlie Zeiger's Restaurant on March 27, 1881.

Yarberry was exonerated on his contention that he shot in self defense, but it was known that he and Brown were rivals for the affections of a local girl.

On June 18, 1881, Yarberry shot and killed Charles D. Campbell, a 32-year-old carpenter, in front of a First St. saloon. Campbell apparently was guilty of little more than disturbing the peace.

Albuquerque citizens, believing that Yarberry was hiding behind his badge to settle personal differences in a rather permanent way, demanded immediate action, and the constable was charged with murder.

Tried and convicted of murder, Yarberry was lodged in the Santa Fe jail during his various appeals of the verdict, which were in vain. He escaped once, but was captured three days later.

Old Town Scaffold

Brought to Albuquerque on Feb. 9, 1883, Yarberry was taken to the scaffold which had been prepared for him in the yard of an adobe jail just east of the Old Town Plaza.

There, at 3 p.m., still protesting his innocence, Yarberry paid the supreme penalty before a crowd of about 150 persons. He lies buried today in a cemetery in Martineztown.

Shortly before he was hanged in Albuquerque 83 years ago this week, Constable Milton J. Yarberry confided his life story to a close personal friend, Elwood Maden.

Mr. Maden was sworn to secrecy, however, and the details of Milt Yarberry's career are little known to this day.

The doomed man admitted that his real name was not Milton J. Yarberry — which did not surprise anybody — but Maden did not reveal the constable's true name as revealed to him.

Maden did reveal that Yarberry's original home was at Walnut Ridge in northeastern Arkansas, and that he had three cousins living there at the time of his execution on Feb. 9, 1853.

Yarberry said that he was the son of respectable parents, that he did not know whether or not they were yet living, but that he had changed his name to protect them.

Yarberry admitted that he had been involved in some shooting scrapes over the years, but denied that he had killed anybody other than the two men he shot down in Albuquerque in the spring of 1831.

NEWSPAPERS in Albuquerque, at the time of Yarberry's execution, gave some of the details of the officer's life and career, but based mostly on hearsay and speculation.

After leaving Arkansas, it was said, he wandered through Texas, to Dallas, Houston and Orange, and then went on to Fort Smith, Ark. In Fort Smith, the newspapers said, he met two famous outlaws, Dave Rudabaugh and Dave Matthews (Mysterious Dave Mather?), and in attempting to help them rob a driver's home, was forced to kill a man and flee the country.

Dear Mrs Garberry,

I was so happy to get your letter. I had just heard Jerry contacted you and was waiting for your address.

I am very interested in family history and have quite a bit of information on our side of the family. I am sure we must all be related in some way. It's like you said there are Garberrys scattered all over.

The first Garberry I have a record of is my great grandfather. I think he ~~was~~ was John Garberry and he lived in Benton (Bentville) Arkansas. He married a widow woman by the name of Sarah Bradshaw. She had 7 children by her first husband. I then had six more by Mr Garberry. My grandfather and his twin brother were born after their father died! She was 43 years old at the time. He lived only a short when Mr. Spaulding was born and died.

I have often thought Father's life would make a wonderful book.
What she went through in her life would take to make a story.
to write you at this time.
She came west to California in 1875 with her two boys and one daughter in a wagon train. One wild winter was passed with a taking and wife. My grandfather Thomas Weston was single as was her daughter Harriet, who died soon after getting to California.
She lived from age 18 till settled near Santa and married Kang's father. They were back 12 children, from 1875 to 1897.
She lived to be 90 years old.
Her mother lived to be 91 years old.

Spanish Armada was burnt near (D)
1511 Atlix with Jomocore. The story with her father, Jomocore and Jomocore children were born of this marriage.
She married John's father and they had four children. William, Thomas, and three sons and three daughters.
Atlix after her father was, some of her sons from her first marriage forgot her the south and come the north.
William was all enough to join the Union Army, but of rank was only fourteen, he was quite big for his age. One day he and the boys were in town and joined the Union Army his age and then came told the boys and she saw all the way
-her mother, but was to late, the back to town, but time
Army had left town.
Army had a hard time poor back nearly passed for keeping his family, married, still took in working, married,

and even agit kept After this was done over Frank came home with his reward pay and they took among. Bad luck seemed to follow them, around the house and saved it.
Down a back children by her just killed started for Calif-sima on wagon train. Two sons in one train and two young married children in another. The horse made it, but the girls were never heard of again. They were probably killed by Indians some where on the way. The daughter husband was taken prisoner by the Indians Army. He was given the choice of fighting with the north or going to jail. He decided to fight but was killed soon after making the decision.

In 1875 Sarah, Tom, Milton and (3)
a daughter by her first marriage started by wagon train for California.
Milton was married by this time and had a baby daughter. They had lost their first babies (twins) prior to this time. They got to Colorado Springs when their money ran out. They had one dollar left when they arrived there, the baby took the croup and they had to spend the dollar for medicine.

There was a silver mining boom at Leadville Colo, so Tom took the open and went to work in the mining camp near at the town of Alma. Milt got the job of Marshal.
One evening at a dance in Alma some big bullies were teasing Tom about being from Arkansas, going barefoot etc. He had a gun and shot one. Not fatally tho.
Milt being the Marshal put him on a train and sent him to Pueblo

Colorado. He got work on a farm near Pueblo, for a man who later became his father-in-law. He married Josephine Crawford in 1881. Later buying their own farm. They raised eight children, leaving four when Josephine died in 1906. They moved their farm at Nylberg and sold their house, the house to moved across. They lived there with Annette. Josephine died with their death. Josephine died in 1940 and born in 1944. Milton married Rebecca England in Arkansas after being married in Arkansas they came back to Colorado Springs and was married there for some time. later they moved near town at Nylberg. Later buying a farm near Colo. later buying a farm near Colorado Springs. Milton died about a year longer than John. Sarah Barker stayed close to her father, her daughter. Harriet died in Colorado Springs.

My father was John Milton Yarberry and lived his whole life near this father. There are two in our family Edward, Jerry's father and I. I was born in 1909, Edward in 1918.

I know most of the cousins, or can get information about them.

I will be more than happy to share any information I have with you, just let me know what you would like to know.

I am anxious to know about your Yarberry background, maybe we can fit the pieces together.

I will be waiting to hear from you.

Dear Sir,
I am sorry to hear that your daughter has been very much worried by the many reports of all the mob there so much just like it over in Hawaii.
There were three weeks before their furniture got there but they wanted some beds and of course they had a stove. They had to buy a refrigerator and take to her on Sunday and that is always such a pain.
My husband (Jack) oldest brother died a couple of weeks ago. He was 81 years old and had been sick about a year.
I really got a kick out of that piece you sent me about "Mitt Romney". He had seen one about like it before.

Yours truly
C

The one you sent went into more detail. My grandfather's twin brother was Milt Garberry. He was a marshal in Colorado Springs as a young man. We always thought that one down in Albuquerque took his name. We didn't know he was from Arkansas too. He must ~~be~~ known the Garberrys down in Arkansas. Old Milt Garberry has a grandson named Milt living in Long Beach. Every one kidded him about the hanging.

I am beginning to think there must be a mistake about my great grandfather being named John. I know there must be a connection somewhere. There was a Thomas Newton in the list you sent me. That was my grandfather's name. People.

used to keep the same names in the family.

We have had some hot weather here, it was 103° last week one day. We have air conditioning so it doesn't bother us too much.
This week is not so hot.

We have a big yard and it keeps us busy watering. We have a nice garden, we have had beets and green beans already.
We can hardly wait for our tomatoes to get ripe.

My brother said Jerry was coming home for the summer.
When our daughter was waiting for the plane to Hawaii, she talked to Jerry's sister and youngest brother. They both said they would like come over and visit her.

I am sorry I have been so slow in answering your letter.

I really did appreciate all the information. How did the Yarberrys in Arizona get all their information?
Did they ever go back to Arkansas?

I hope you have a pleasant summer. Write when you can. I enjoy your letters so much.

Love
P.S. I don't know if I am losing my mind or what. Didn't you send me a copy of Yarberrys in Arizona genealogy? I thought I had saved everything you sent me including your letters. I have all of those.
Clippings about hanging Milt Yarberrys
but I can not find what I thought you sent me. Was it on a separate piece of paper?

Dear Lirt,

Thursday Eve.

You sure hit the "jack pot." That is sure my great grand mother and my grandad in the 1860 census.

I have been told her father was Ben Thumble. His wife's name was Sanford. I know he did have slaves. That poor old woman could have a book written about her life.

I am trying to find out about William Farberry from his granddaughter. She hasn't answered my last letter.

The relative ^{of MIT} ^{Grandson} Albuquerque is the only Yarberry there. I think his name is Edgar. I doubt if he would know much about the family. I knew his dad who gave me a picture of old Sarah.
There is an old woman in Houston Texas, daughter of Wm Yarberry I am trying to get in touch with.

I am going to send for those Army records, there may be something about the father of Wm and Frank etc. Also I would like to get that 1870 census.

You made me jealous telling about Nellie being able to get those big steaks. We like to cook out in the summer. We have a nice patio and eat out nearly every right.

Jerry did called me last week and said he was "grandpa" They were tickled to death. I'll bet Jerry can hardly wait to see his new niece. He was so nice to our little grandson.

Our daughter called yesterday and said they were going to be sent to Hawaii for three years. Her husband is in the Navy. We are glad for them but sure hate the thought of their being so far away. I sure hope we will be able to go see them. I have always wanted to see Hawaii.

I surely do appreciate you sending me all the information. I am sure we are all related.

O

Dear Sir,

I'll bet you think I am a good one for not answering your letter.

I was so glad to get that Census record. I was surprised that ^{some of} the Bradshaws were born in Tennessee, I thought they were born in Arkansas. The dates are what I expected. My grandfather and his twin were born in 1854, so of course they were not on it. Can't

Silus J. He may of died in Childhood, so never did in those days. There is no record of Francis, the one that died in Denver and was buried in Monte Vista at the old Soldiers home. I have talked to one of his grandsons

we could find the missing link.

Keep those letters coming, I sure do enjoy all the information.

Jane

and he doesn't know exactly when he died. As that old soldiers home is closed now, it may take awhile to run it down.

We have had our daughter, her husband and little boy here since the 21st of December. Her husband went on to Chicago last week and will try and find them a place to live for November. Then they go to Norfolk Virginia for three years. He called and said the rents were so high and some of the neighborhoods are terrible. I sure hate to see them go, but as it's only eleven weeks, I guess they will make out.

We have had the worst weather you can imagine. It was below zero every night for about three weeks and the days only got up to 10° to 15°. We had about eight inches of snow. It has finally broken and warmed up. The streets are just one sheet of ice. It will take a long time to melt the snow and ice.

After we get settled down,
I will try to look up some more dates and send you.

I do appreciate your sending me all the information.

Our library is very limited here, so it's hard to find any thing. Thanks again.

Thursday Eve.

Dear Bert,

You really did hit the 'jack pot'. In that list I am sure some one is part of our family. We are not sure our Saras husband and was named John. We have never been able to find out any thing for sure about him.

I haven't had much luck from my letters. One of my cousins was in Benton Arkansas about three years ago, and the only thing she found was the marriage of Frank and William Garberry.

I haven't been able to do much writing the past month. Our daughter and little boy have been with us. Her husband has been sent to Hawaii for three years. As soon as he can find some housing for them, she will join him.

We are happy they will be

Probably

living in such a nice place, but sure I hate to have them so far away. I have always wanted to see Hawaii, so maybe I will get the chance while they are over there.

I will have plenty of free time after our daughter leaves. In fact I will probably be so lonesome I will be glad to have something to keep me busy.

I just wanted to let you know why I have been so slow in answering. I do appreciate you sending me the information.
There are several things I want to ask you. Also you wrote to for your information on the census?
Also the name and address of the Yarbbergs in Arizona.

I will write you as soon as I can get organized again.

C
Dear Bert,

I was so glad to get your letter with all the good information.

I know there must be a connection, but we just haven't found it.

That name Thomas Newton means something. There are so many of them. One of my uncles was named George Franklin. He is dead, but his widow still lives at Carlsbad California.

The more I ponder on it, I just wonder if my great grandfather's name was John. He may of been married before he married Sarah. On her tombstone it shows she was born in 1811 and died 1901.

Her eldest son William was born in 1844, so she was not a young woman when he was born. My grandfather Thomas and his wife had a son of name John when she was 53 - years old.

I wrote to William and Elizabeth, but they did not have any record, so

I am going to write to Arkansas

Archives.

I really enjoyed these letters from Kate Carson. I have a letter in Julia's box. He is born in 1844, so she was not quite a bit younger than me.

His father was. I have Newton

Springer's child. He was about

29 years old. He had the one son

2 years old. Robert Newton. She is that Newton again. I believe changed

My father remarried and the wife father adopted him and changed his name to Robert Norton Allen.
He is manager of a big feed lot in Duluth. We all felt real bad that they changed his name.
I am going to write to Kate Carson. She sounds like a nice person.
Our daughter has been down at Franklin. She just loves just over there. We'll get over but when we will go to be there as they are going to be there these places, I guess we have plenty of time.
I had a letter from my mother and he said that we were in a bank that was wondering if please to go back to San Diego this fall.

We have had the hottest and driest summer I can remember.
We had our air conditioners going every day in July. It has cooled down, but still no rain.

Our garden is so nice we have had beans, carrots, beets, tomatoes, cucumbers, green peppers. We have eaten so many tomatoes, they are coming out our ears. I forgot we had corn too.

I have been trying to do some house cleaning. By the way I am going, at will be time to start again when I am finished.

That trip to Arkansas sounds like it would be fun. I wish I could go with you. ☺

In 1850 the earliest census they have?

Cousin "Billie" sounds like people I have known. I wish you could get her off of her ailments and talk more about the family.

I am like Kate Carson. I can understand why people are not interested in them another side of the ocean. My mother's side of the family it is all traced down
I am sure a dozen more.
A grandfather from an American one in Scotland, a grandfather from England and one from Ireland.
We have traced down on my mother's side fairly well.
You were talking about how they changed the spelling. Frank they changed it when they settled, apart at Thomas Newton and Milton and changed it.
I have the pictures from Newspaper clippings. Some they and have some photo copies made. They are pretty old and may not come out to well.

Thanks for sending Kate's letters and all the rest. If I find anything startling out I will let you know right away.

Dear Shit,

It was so good to get your letter and as you said I am sure we are all from the same tribe. I still have some leads to follow up and as soon as I find out any more I will let you know!

My grandfather Tom didn't have a birth certificate, but I am sure he had a death Certificate, I will look it up and see what was listed. We always heard lots about his mother, but nothing about his father, only that he died before my grandfather and his twin was born.

There is only one of my grandfather's children living. She is 74 years old and doesn't know much more about the family than I do.

Milt, my grandfather's twin brother still has five children living. Two of the old ladies have given me most of my information. One of them told me the name was Yarborough in the beginning. That is - was a Scotch name.

It is odd about that Clayton Yarberr, we have always been told ~~we~~ had Indian blood, and it was Cherokee. We never did know just how much Indian blood or just where it came from. Same as old Milt Yarberr's children did look like they had Indian blood.

I can't figure out who that Rodney Earl Yarberr could be, the only Rodney I know of is dead and only had two daughters.

That old Soldier's Home in Monticello is closed now and I have been for a great many years. So I have Frank's picture and there and we have in the old children's cemetery. Some of the to get in touch with some of the grand children and find out more about it.

There are pictures all over in the south and everywhere else it looks like they all had such big families and are scattered everywhere.
My dear Mary was in Albuquerque, I don't know a quarter of them there.
I have one daughter, in fact keep up the family name. She is living in the San Antonio, but will be moving around soon. Her husband is in the navy and is being sent to about

Dear Mr. [unclear]

of really enjoyed talking to you and do

as appreciate the information you gave me.

I talked to Dorothy Turner and she is working hard on her records and we plan to work to - get her to catalogue and identify records "Gardner" and make a family and see if we can't find some needed back to the 1700's here in the U.S.

For lack of a better way to start I listed the names of "Gardners" by first name along with birth date / death date / military service data / a number

I gave them (additionally) and ^{information} for their personal numbers. I also made a section for names of persons moving into Gardners and moved like I will have to include back last last no list. There is a file to check things and it is listed by "alumni number". The

I got a new name, it gets a number. Also with

I got them perhaps I can number people

according to their families.

Maybe tell me that when I want to reach for telephone. (405-632-0717) visited but in 24

his secretary, Janine Jack, or one of my kids, John Milton G., Jeanne Margaret G. (Mrs.
John Presley) or June Marie Yarberry;— or anyone else—for that matter will help you immediately if you state "Yarberry relative".

I plan to send out inquiry letters to the Yarberys listed in the Beadrie Bayley book. It will take some doing! If they answer it will take an effort on their part too! It took me two evenings just to write their names down.

I don't recall what I promised you at the moment but it will come back to me no doubt! I have been updating Wm & Sarah's family. I still have a lot of blanks to fill in.
It was so close to me I didn't get it all!

Searching for Indexed Terms¹

First, find the name or phrase (search term) in the index. Then, from the menu bar, select “Edit”, and then “Find” or press CTRL+F. A search field will appear in the upper right corner of the page. Enter the search term into this field and press ENTER. If the search term is not found, nothing will happen; otherwise, the search term will be displayed on the first page in which it occurs. Repeated pressing of the ENTER key will high-light other occurrences within the file. Use the left and right arrow buttons to the right of the search field to look ahead or to look backwards for other occurrences of the term in the document

A directory (folder) or even an entire hard drive may also be searched². First, high-light the selected folder or drive and then press SHIFT+CTRL+F to obtain a listing of all the files in which the search term appears. Next, select and open an individual file to find the first occurrence of the search term(s) in the file, as described in the preceding paragraph.
